Annual of Newton High School
Newton, Massachusetts

VOLUME NINETEEN

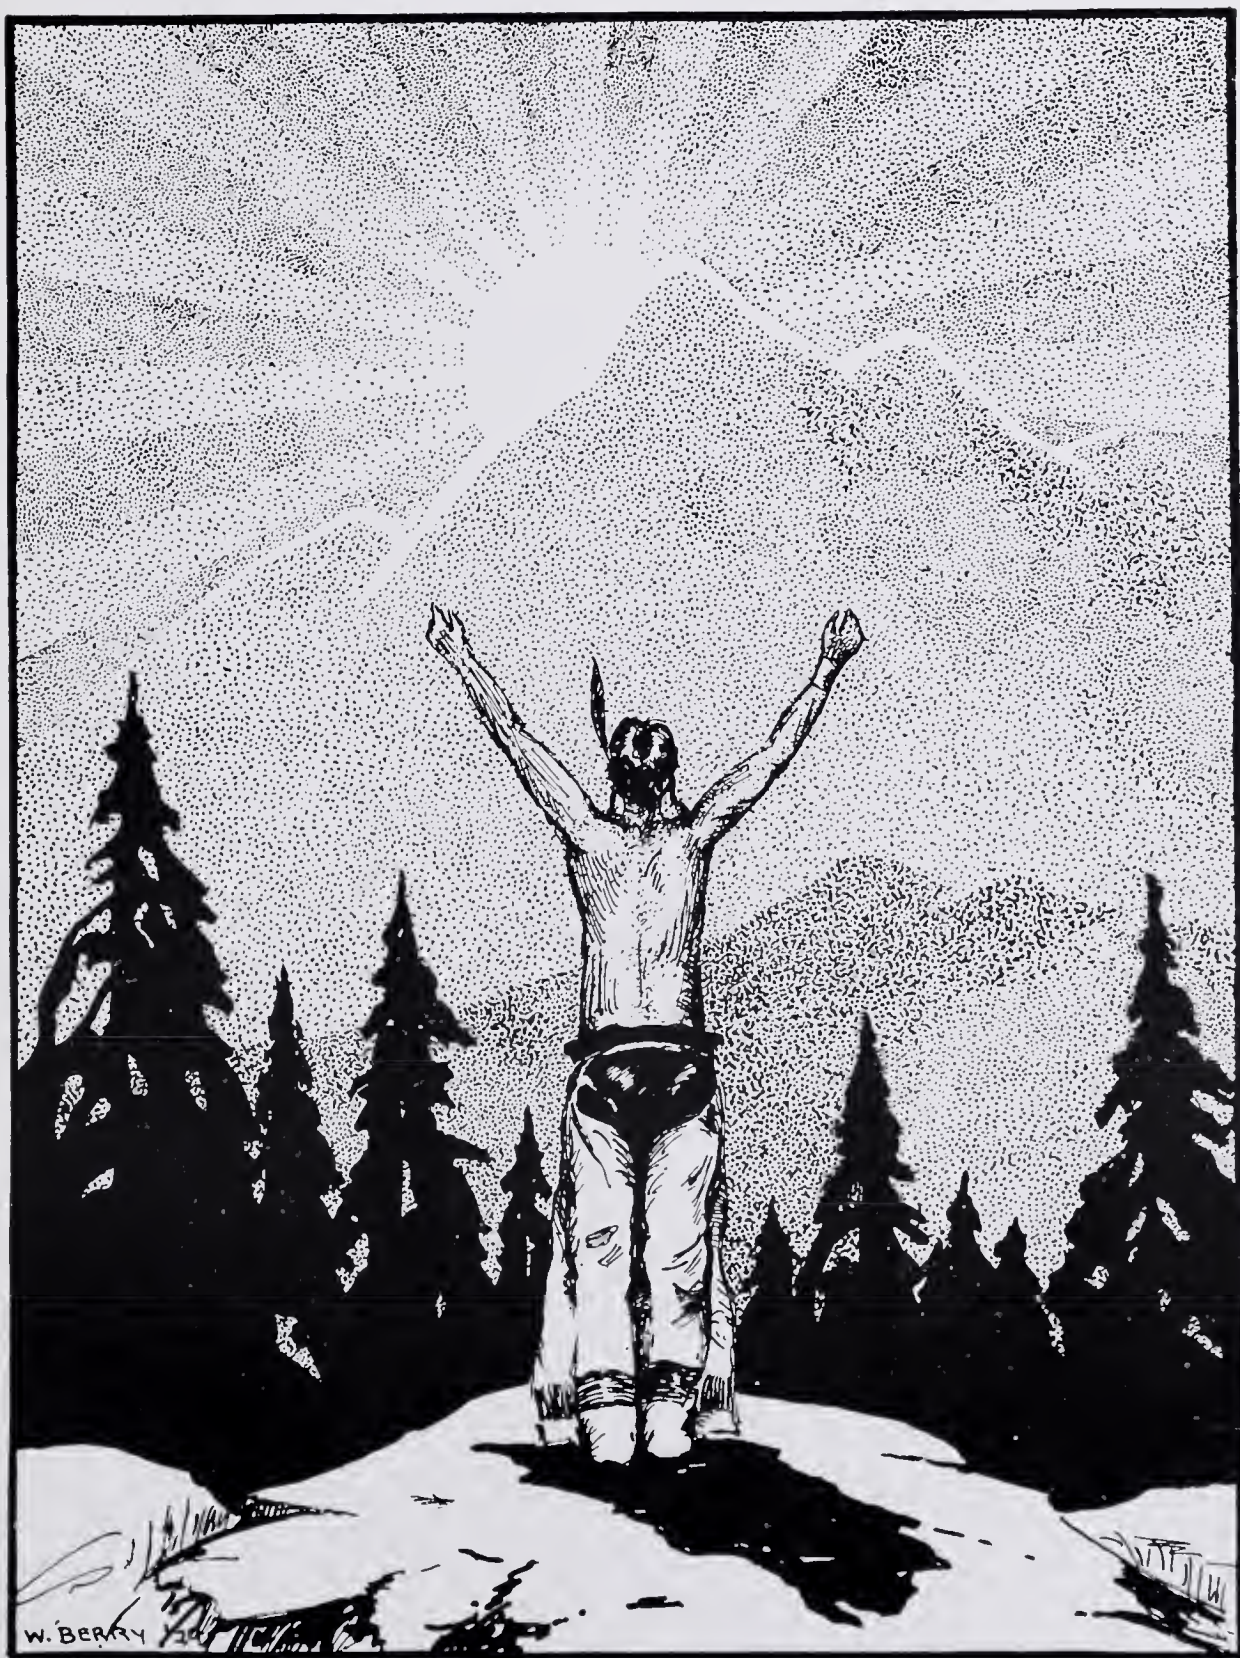

EDITED BY THE CLASS OF NINETEEN TWENTY-EIGHT

The Foreword

IN PRODUCING the nineteenth volume of the Newtonian it is our desire to create an edition as inclusive as possible of our school life. Whereas yearbooks throughout the country depend largely for their success on advertisements, or the taxing of school organizations, or having tag campaigns, we take great pride in the fact that we are financing our book entirely without revenue from any of these sources.

One of the traditions of previous Newtonians the reader will find missing in this volume. The "Feature" section has been abolished. It is the editor's opinion that humor has not been the backbone of our school years together, but that our studies, our clubs, our classes, and our athletics have been the object of our strivings. The editor again wishes to extend his sincere appreciation to all students contributing their assistance to the book; to Miss Ells for her advice and work with the art staff; and to Miss Robinson for her invaluable aid in arrangements of Senior data.

FRANCIS LEONARD BACON

The Class of 1928 takes this occasion to express its appreciation and gratitude by dedicating the Newtonian to

Francis Leonard Bacon.

Mr. Bacon came to the Newton High School as principal in the fall of 1922. He found here three separate schools, each with its own organization and interests. At once his helpful influence became apparent in the life of the school. He enlarged its musical opportunities through the re-organization of the Orchestra and the creation of the Band. By his efforts two new school publications were firmly established—"The Newtonite" and "The Orange Book." He instituted a chapter of the National Honor Society. His insight into the needs of the pupils led to the establishment of the Guidance Department. However, his greatest accomplishment was in bringing the student body and alumni into close co-operation by the unification of the three schools into the Newton High School, and by the formation of a successfully working Alumni Association.

Now he is laboring to perfect that great experiment—the Junior College—in the Morton Junior College of Chicago. We wish him there the great success that he knew among us.

In memory of
Miss Emily Hazen

Born August 5, 1866, died March 9, 1928
A life of high endeavor and unselfish devotion, asking no more from her friends than she asked of herself—a sense of duty and honor.

In memory of
James M. Potter

Born August 24, 1873, died April 17, 1928
Admired by those whom he met as a devoted teacher, a helpful friend, and an example of a well-lived life.

History of the Senior Class

By ELEANOR COLLINS

THE time has come for the class of 1928 to leave its place among undergraduates and join the ranks of alumni. As the Senior Class it has led a great school for a year; now it is to be scattered, its members cast into comparative insignificance in the greater school of Life, where its fame hereafter will rest upon the varying individual successes of its members. Yet, before high school days become mere memories, we pause a moment to commemorate them by one more brief record of our progress and achievements.

Four long years have passed since Newton High first opened its doors in welcome to us, a crowd of eager and exultant freshmen. Into a life of confusion we were plunged, for the unification of the three schools that year brought many a problem to be settled. After the Constitutional Convention had been held, and the future government of the school planned, class elections came. Robert L. Tracy was our first president; Elizabeth Pratt, vice-president; Donald Burns, secretary; and Elizabeth Curtis, treasurer. The year was uneventful in comparison with those to come; it was a period of adjustment that employed both mind and interest.

Back we trudged as sophomores, when the long vacation was over — much more worldly-wise than we had been one short year before. Tracy was re-elected president, while William Stumpf became vice-president, Jerry R. Angino, secretary, and Ruth Holbrook, treasurer. When Stumpf left school, Nils Holmstrand succeeded him in office. Our social career was successfully launched with a gym dance. The girls paved the road to athletic achievements by defeating their older competitors and carrying off the cup at the gym meet. Finally, as if to show that the class, in its search for laurels, was not neglecting the chief issue in school life, Virginia Willard won a scholarship award for attaining the high standard of sixteen A's and three B's. Thus the year ended.

The next year brought changes. First there came an influx of sub-seniors to our group in the fall. The seniors proper had left our immediate neighborhood, and were already firmly established in the new building that was at last a reality — a very fine building, so our fortunate friends gave us to understand. Now, complacently contemplating the comfortable spaciousness in which we had been left, we turned our attention to the election of junior executives. This time Norman Payne became president, assisted by Frank Spain, with Virginia Spurrier as secretary, and J. Clinton Roper as treasurer, until Roper left school, his place being filled by Creighton E. Gatchell. Elizabeth Pratt was chosen girls' vice-president of the Associates and Edgar W. Warren, treasurer. The ever-popular Feminine Follies had an unusual financial as well as social success early in the spring. In "The Prince and the Pauper," the Drama Club play which marked the dedication of the new auditorium, Catherine Stone reflected glory upon her class by her interpretation of this dual role. Robert Kretschmar, another actor in this play, further demonstrated his oratorical ability by winning third place in the Prize-Speaking Contest, in which four other juniors qualified — Marie McGrath, Louise Perry, Beatrice Piser, and Catherine Stone. At the gym meet the girls again defeated all comers. The establishment of a chapter of the National Honor Society, to which fifteen of our classmates were elected, was probably the most outstanding event of the year. In June came the forecast of another change in the class membership, when many elected a five-year course.

At last that long anticipated senior year arrived, accompanied by its duties and dignities. Our leaders were chosen: Angino, president; Richard True and Leslie Church, first and second vice-presidents; Thomas Foss, secretary; and David Scott, Master of Finances. Further election returns brought Angino the unique honor of the presidency of the Associates as well as of his class. Early in the year a "Harvest Hop" was held in the gym. The Senior Play, A. A. Milne's "Romantic Age" was presented in February, with Virginia Willard and Lincoln Edmunds playing the leading roles. Later Barbara Davis upheld the class's reputation in dramatics by her delightful performance as Miss Phoebe in "Quality Street," the Drama Club's annual production. Here Catherine Stone and Addra Saunders were among the foremost of the supporting cast. As for the Prize-Speaking Contest, Richard Cummings, Ruth Filene, Robert Kretschmar, Edmund

McLaughlin, Russell Maloney, and Miss Stone reached the finals. The Senior Prom is eagerly anticipated at the time the Newtonian goes to press, while plans for the Senior Banquet are being formulated.

Now, turning to '28's share in various organizations that comprise extra-curricula activities, we find a vast record of service that could never be adequately recognized in so brief a chronicle. Other sections will treat it more exhaustively; here only the highest points will be touched.

First and foremost is the National Honor Society, recently organized, in an attempt to award fitting recognition to those students who contribute hearty support to Newton's high ideals of scholarship, character, leadership, and service. The first active officers of the organization were: Virginia Willard, president; Benjamin C. Bowen, vice-president; Mildred Stuart, secretary; and Lawrence C. Jenks, treasurer. In the English, Drama, and other clubs, the class of '28 has had numerous diligent and loyal members.

As for those of a musical bent, Bernard Rockwood, versatile member of both Band and Orchestra, has been chosen Newton High's representative at the National High Schools' Band's summer camp in Michigan this year. Sigmund Romaszkievicz's brilliant playing has made him concert master in the orchestra, while Louise Chambers is head pianist.

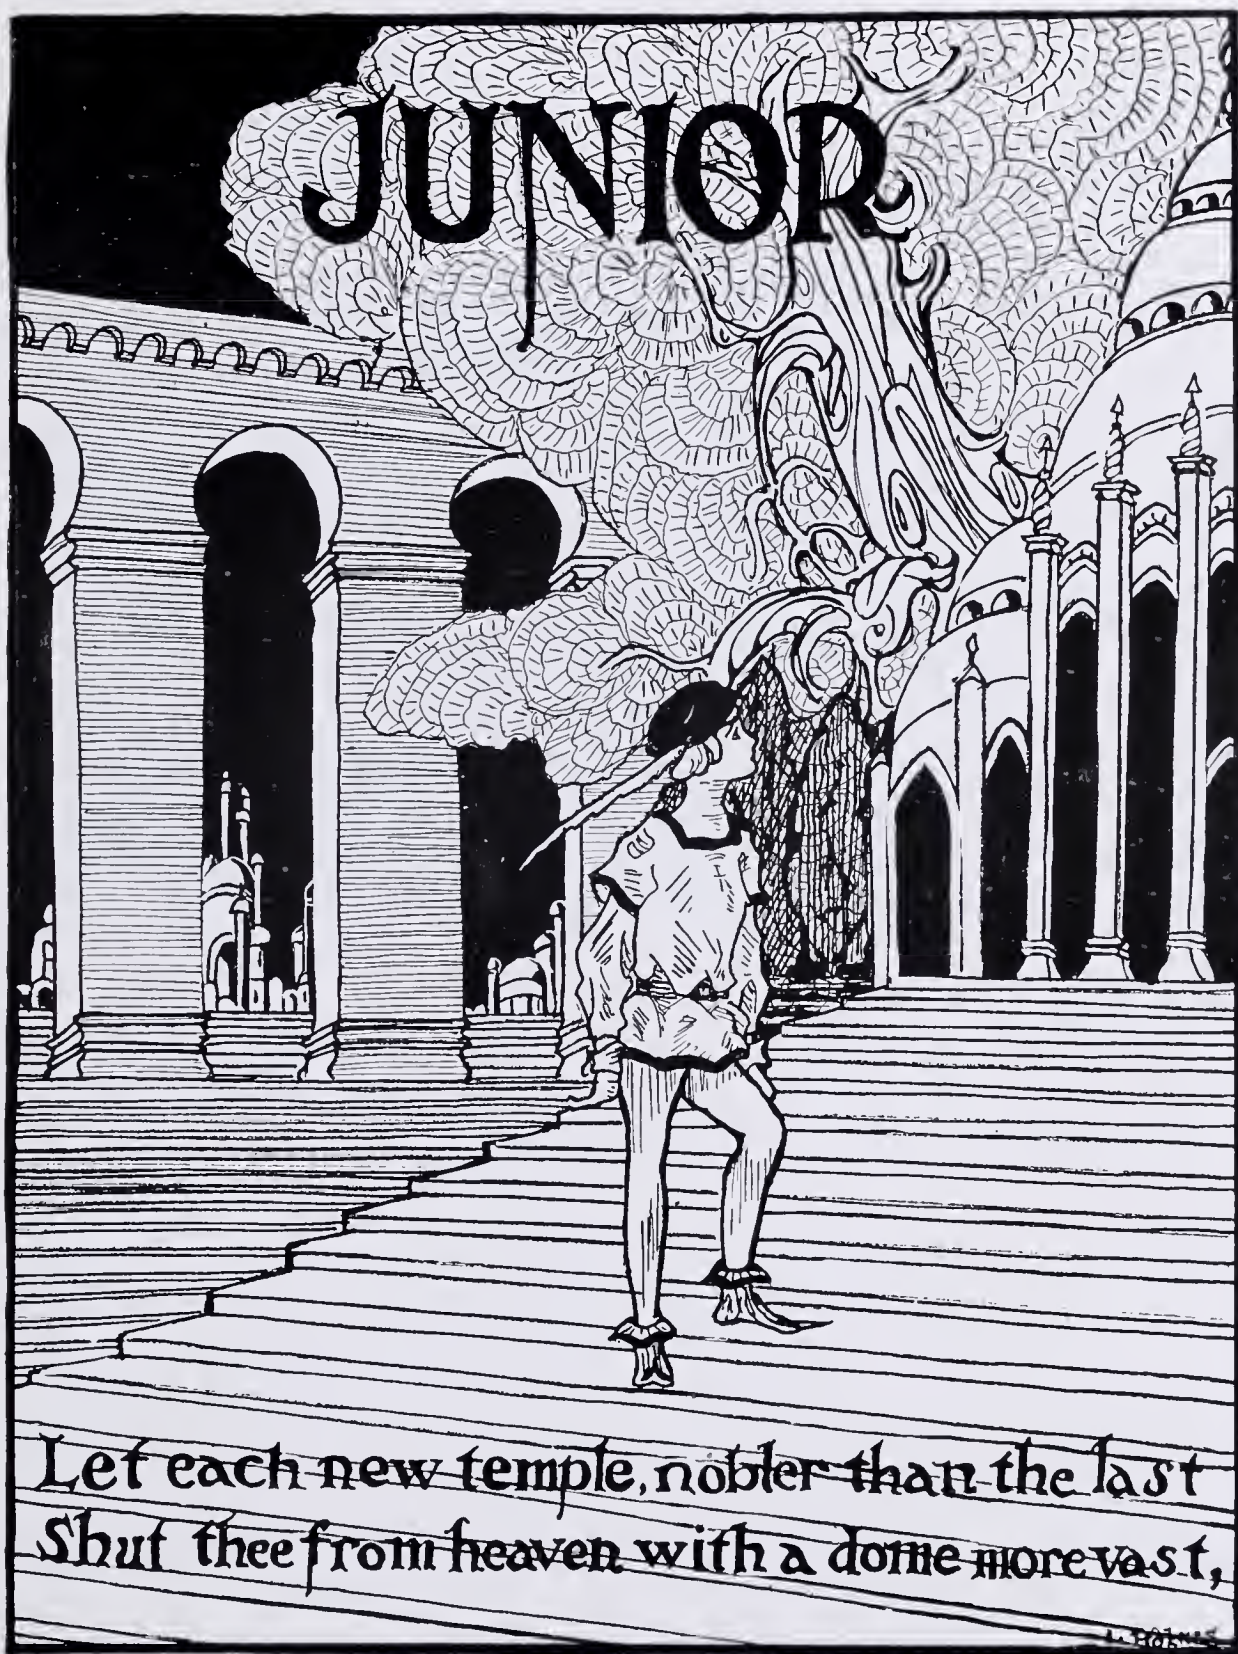

The Newtonite, the weekly organ presenting the views and activities of the school is a product of the toil and sacrifice of a hard working staff. Twice a member of our class has served as editor-in-chief; last year Edmund McLaughlin, this year his former assistant, Joseph A. L. Russo. Last year Lawrence C. Jenks was news staff editor; David Scott, literary editor; and Benjamin Bowen, sports editor. This year Jenks has become assistant editor-in-chief and Bowen managing editor. Robert Kretschmar manages the business details, Venila Colson is literary editor; Russell Maloney, editorial editor; and Preston Sweetser, cartoon editor. "Newtonia," the novel entertainment planned and staged by an active group on the staff, wherein a startling array of talent was discovered, was the most surprising event of the year.

"Athletics" immediately calls to mind ice-hockey — the spectacular victories which have thrice won championships during '28's sojourn at Newton. Frank Spain and Frank Stubbs, ex-'28, both three-letter men, have been instrumental in the teams' successes; Robert Bennett starred in the more recent struggles. In other sports seniors number among the fine men and teams produced. Among the football veterans are Romaine Cole, captain; Bennett, Creighton Gatchell, Axel Hamilton, and Francis Shea. Well known to baseball fans are Spencer DeMille, captain; Spain, Edgar Warren, and Donald Wilson. Basketball, new as it is to Newton boys, found strong support in William Pierce, who captained the team, DeMille, and Bernard Rockwood. Among the seniors on the track team are Malcolm Reed, captain, the Cole brothers, Fowler and Romaine, Edward Eblehare, Hamilton, Kolmeyer, and McCrudden of middle distance fame. Harold Lodge captains the natators and David Scott our prospective Tildens.

The new field has been a great boon to girls' outdoor sports. The last hockey season was particularly successful, the team being undefeated. Gladys Brown captained the team, with Emily Kenderdine as manager. Gladys Gerauld won a position on the All-Boston Public School Team.

Indoors, our girls' two-year triumph in the Gym Meet has already been mentioned. In basketball, they carried off a good share of honor and success. Among the prominent senior players were Chelise Cook — twice captain of a progressive varsity, Elizabeth Clark, manager; Gladys Brown, Frances Comer, Margaret Decker, Priscilla Dennett, and Margaret Shultz.

These years have been full and fleet. We worked hard, but played hard, too, as this record of our accomplishments well maintains. Now a fine building has risen in lines of sturdy beauty where then a rippling brook traversed meadow-lands. The broad field is now a verdant expanse of close-clipped turf, where the clash of hockey sticks rings out. As the school has changed so have we. We have grown in stature and broadened in mind. May the memory of these four hard and happy years ever bind the class of '28!

The History of the Junior Class

By RICHARD P. STEBBINS

NEARLY three years have elapsed since the class of 1929, then a group of timid freshmen, first entered the portals of Newton High School. Our ignorance, back in the days of lunch tickets and the old drill hall, was at first indescribable, but we learned rapidly, and soon became a vital part of the school life, both in athletics and in more scholarly pursuits.

The organization of the class, under the guidance of Miss Riley, began with the election of Dora Cummings as president, John Orr, vice-president; Carolyn Lewis, secretary; and Anna Barrett, as treasurer. The class of 1929 began early to demonstrate scholastic ability, and throughout the year held the highest position on the honor roll as published in the Newtonite.

The idea of a campaign against ride-bummers, which has since become so widespread, originated in the freshman civics classes of 1929. Speakers were sent to address various Newton clubs and grammar schools and other programmes of publicity were launched. The movement has grown so famous that it was recently commended in the Massachusetts legislature.

In the Prize-Speaking Contest we were represented by Marion Mason, one of the nine finalists chosen by a process of elimination from the entire school. The class ended its activities as freshmen by a minstrel show and dance, and by the unpleasant ordeal of final exams.

As Sophomores we had increased in wisdom and stature and were ready to enter with renewed vigor the many activities of the school. This year Evan Collins was chosen leader, with Dora Cummings, Rena Spain, and Faith Foster, his assistants.

Some athletes of promise had been developed on the freshman teams, and many sophomores now held positions on the junior and intermediate squads. The girls were also active in sports and contributed much to the success of the field hockey and basketball teams.

Alpha Beta, the Freshman-Sophomore English Club, enjoyed a prosperous year under the leadership of Fred Burton. This organization sponsored a Declamation Contest which was open to members of the two lower classes. Marjorie Birrel was the winner, with Ruth Black receiving second prize, and honorable mention going to John Beaufort.

A large number of Sophomores were enrolled in the newly organized Newton High School Band, and in other musical organizations, and members of the class also began active work on the Newtonite.

With a long vacation behind it 1929 returned with the prestige that always belongs to juniors. We were now upper classmen!

The fine record of this year's football team is largely due to the number of juniors on the squad. Norman Payne, Everett Scheinfein (captain-elect), William Reilly, Francis Duane, John Mullin, Daniel Harrington, Joe Gilligan, and Stanley Brown are some of the men who were instrumental in Newton's victories.

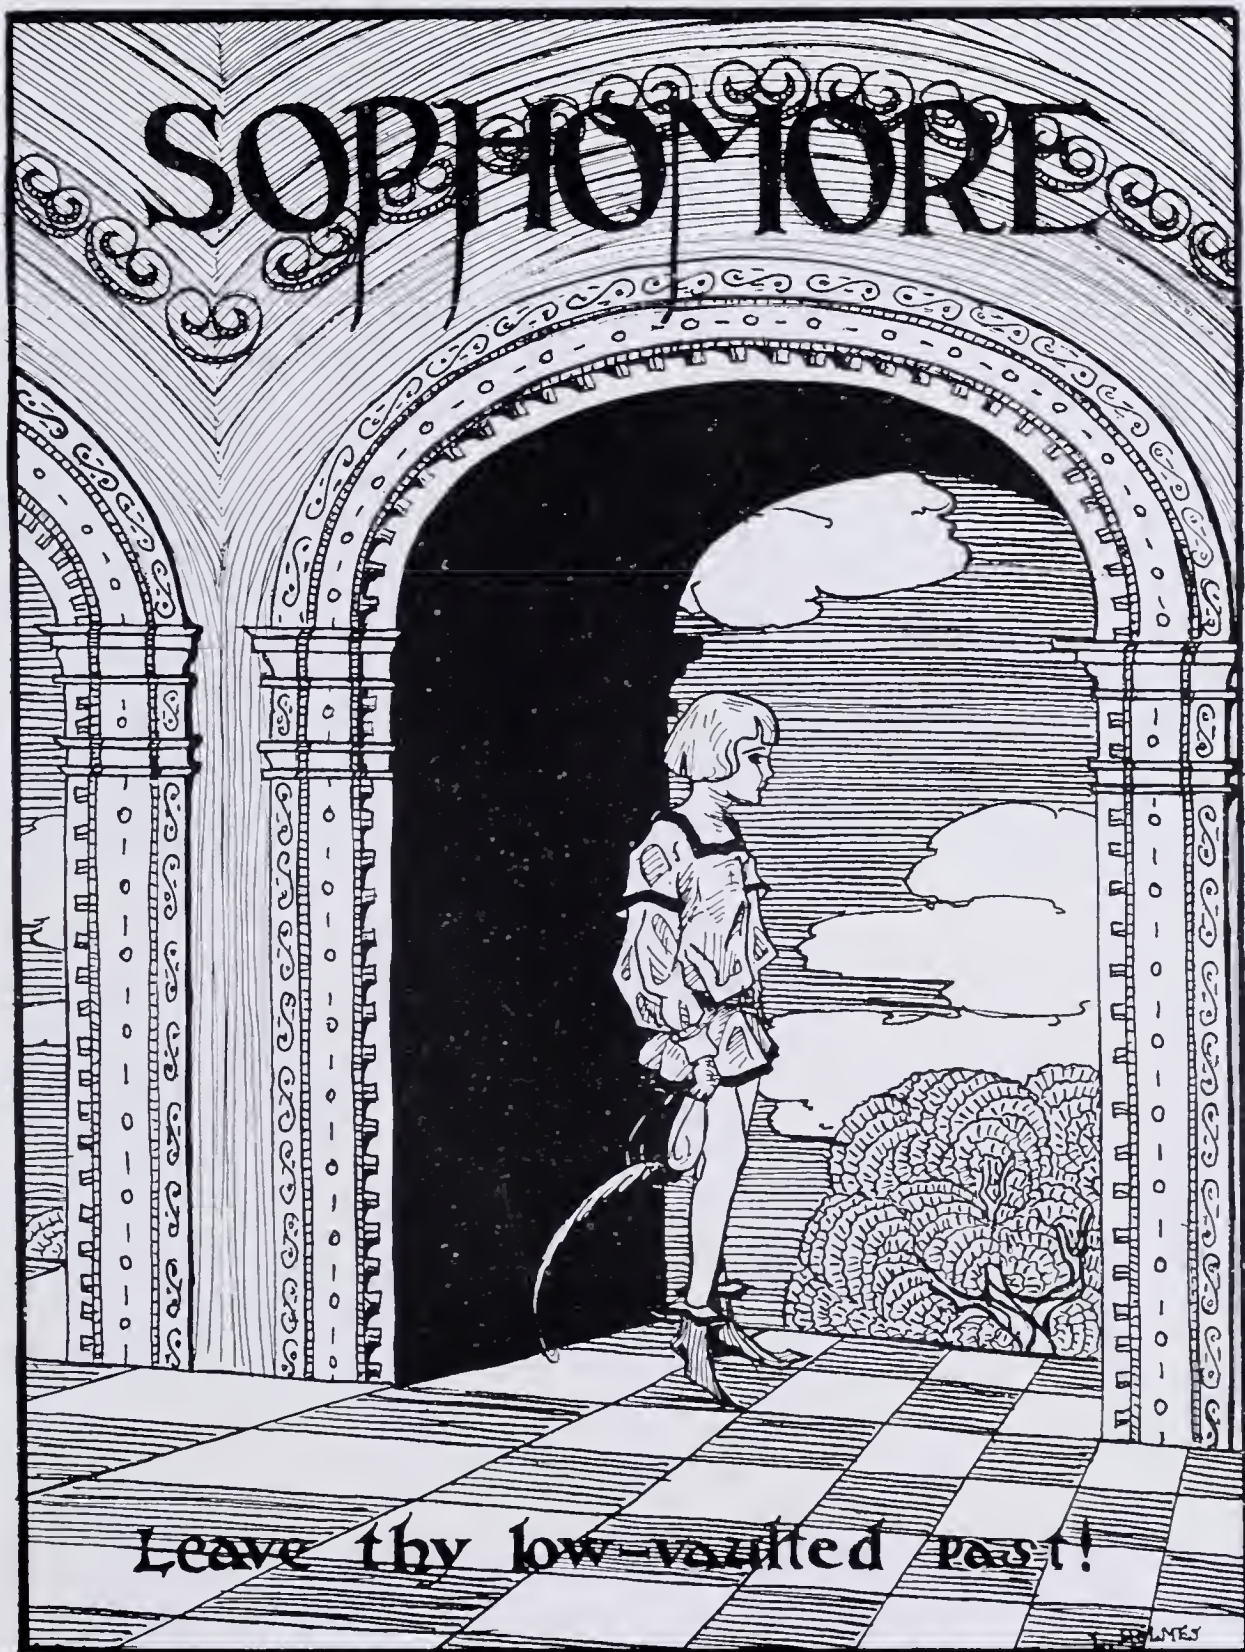

On February 22 at the Boston Arena the hockey team annexed the school's seventh championship within the past eleven years. Juniors on this team were James Brown, captain; Langdon Powers, Dick Gardner, Joe Gilligan, Robert Wilkie, William Reilly, Daniel Harrington, and Allie Fletcher. The track squad was materially aided by Fred Burton, Pescosolido, John Mullin, and Richard Gibbs.

At the elections held late in the autumn the class officers chosen were Norman Payne, Katherine Sprague, Norma Morgan, and Jeanette Manning. Payne, Miss Morgan, James Brown, and Betty Pratt were made officers of the Newton High School Associates.

One of the most popular social events of the year is always the "Feminine Follies," the traditional junior dance. This year's affair proved no exception, and many came to trip gracefully over the gym floor to the rhythmic strains of the B. U. Buccaneers.

About thirty juniors were elected to membership in the Newton Chapter of the National Honor Society. This is one of the highest honors which can be conferred upon a high school student for it represents not only scholastic achievement but the four essential traits of Character, Service, Loyalty, and Scholarship. The activities of the various clubs round out a program of school life in which the class of 1929 has held a very prominent place.

History of the Sophomore Class

By CATHERINE L. THOMPSON

WITH two of our milestones of high school life fading in the distance, we rather enjoy reviewing the events which have occurred by the wayside. As leaders of our 1930 band, Philip Giddings was chosen president; George Hutchinson, vice-president; Doris Benson, secretary; Dorothy Bowen, treasurer.

The most outstanding activities of our first year were the "Get Acquainted Party" in September, for girls; the continuation of the Anti-Bumming Rides Campaign of which Philip Giddings was chairman, and Dorothy Rising, secretary; and several well-planned assemblies.

Various members of our class, as freshmen, were asked to join the Alpha Beta, Home Economics, and Chess and Checkers Clubs. In the short story contest which the Alpha Beta sponsored, Catherine Thompson received first prize, Olive Riley, second, and four from the class of 1930 received honorable mention. In the English Club puzzle contest, Francis Collins received first prize for the novel, and Elizabeth Gallagher, second, for her characters in Shakespeare.

In athletics, we were not so much amiss. Mary Durkin captained a fine yet slightly inexperienced hockey team; Captain Murphy did well with freshman football squad; basketball was received with enthusiasm by both boys and girls; while baseball was also successful enough.

Along the span of the freshman and sophomore milestones, our leaders were James Benson, president; William Shipper, vice-president; Doris Benson, secretary, who was succeeded upon her leaving Newton High, by Helen Brooks; Rena Spain, treasurer.

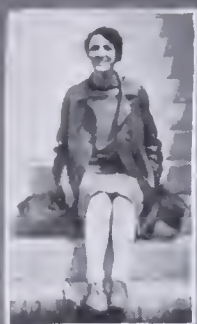

As sophomores, we were up near the top every time on the Scholarship Roll; wavering between first and second place. On November 16 we entertained the freshman class at an assembly where some of the various English classes presented well-known and well-liked selections from valuable books, which well befitted National Book Week. The sophomore dance, held on Friday, February 3, was a great success.

As is the custom, some of the chosen few sophomores took part in club functions. The two sophomores voted for the offices of president and secretary of the Alpha Beta were Spencer Rockwood and Helen Brooks, while Edward Smith was made chairman of the membership committee. With the interested group of sophomores and freshmen, Miss Macdonald, as adviser, carried on a very successful program. Besides the regular clubs to which sophomores are eligible, one new one was formed — the Junior Drama Club. Eleven sophomore members were invited to join this after the tedious tryouts and from these eleven, John Argersinger and Edward Smith were selected president and treasurer respectively.

And now to relate doings in athletics, on those spacious fields which we passed on our journey from one milestone to the other. While a fine squad of boys were participating well on the various football teams, the girls' sophomore hockey team, captained by Rena Spain with Mary Carrick as manager, defeated the noble freshmen with the score of 3-0, on October 17. With the possibility of class letters at stake, the same team played a stirring game a few days later against the defiant seniors coming out defeated only by the narrow score of 1-0. However, Rena Spain, Lillian Norton, Natalie Welch, Betty Muther, and Dorothy Bliss were given positions on the varsity squad for their good work. In the tennis tournament for girls, Elizabeth Perry, Esther Turner, and Marjorie Morse were the outstanding sophomores. The six boys contesting in the sophomore-freshman Pentathlon, DiRusso, Felberg, Watt, Dilloway, Briggs, and Smith, came out well enough. Not so many of our boys were out for ice hockey, but Smith made the Junior Varsity Team. In the girls' inter-class basketball tournament, there were nine teams for the ninety girls who came out for it. In the games between Wellesley and Needham — since there was no regular team — Helen Bowlby's and Natalie Welch's team shared the honor of being defeated by Wellesley, and Betty Follett's team by Needham because those aforementioned teams had the best attendance for practice games. Natalie Welch and Betty Chapin made the varsity team. Of the boys, Kirkpatrick and Rockwood play very brilliantly on the second varsity team.

How brightly illuminated were those past two milestones! May the next two be still more dazzling!

Only a Freshman, But—

By LOIS STAFFORD

HE was just a school boy, walking a little faster than was his custom when the school was his goal, going to start his career at the Newton High School. He was the least bit excited, but he would have admitted it to no one. What a pleasant sensation it gave him when some one sang out "Freshie," for it showed that he was part of it all. It was a clear, bright day in September, the kind of day when a boy feels that he could conquer the world. And worlds there were to conquer!

The novelty of the first few days pleased him. It was good fun to pass outdoors between recitations on a sunshiny day. In fact, it wasn't like school at all. There were tunnels, too, through which he might go to his classes when it was raining. He had seen one of them in different stages of its building the summer before; and he had not thought then, when he saw only a trench in the ground that it could be made into a tunnel with skylights.

He went to the Freshman "Get-Together Party" early in the fall and had a fine time. He had had no idea that there were so many boys and girls in the freshman class alone.

At the election of officers held later in the fall, the ballots were checked in real booths just as if it were a national election. Norman Adams was elected president; Charles Bassett, vice-president; William Dunn, secretary; and William Perry, treasurer. In a week or two a class meeting was held in the auditorium. The Boy began to sense then the feeling of the upper classman when he called him "Freshie."

Events followed thick and fast! There were the athletic activities, football for the boys, and hockey for the girls. The class numerals were received by the following boys for football: W. Bell, W. Timmins, T. Sutcliffe, W. Goodbar, T. Morrison, H. Strombom, F. Cooney, R. McCabe, F. Barba, G. Sidebotham, R. Lawrence, H. Ray, F. Kirby, M. Poindexter, T. Malloy, C. Bassett, K. Kosrojian, and F. Geraci. The Boy, although not a player, was an interested spectator at the games.

The Alpha Beta, an English Club, was open to freshmen. Many who had honor marks in English joined this club. Tryouts were held in the autumn for a sophomore-freshman drama club, which later applied for a charter. The Anti-Bumming Ride Campaign was continued. The Boy felt his responsibility and became very much interested.

It was in February after the mid-year exams had been passed safely but with anxious moments, that the Boy took a new hold on himself and developed into a student besides being just a pupil.

During the winter there was basketball for both girls and boys in the "gym." Every day in the week, the girls crowded into their "gyms" to compete in the intermural games. The boys were no less eager than the girls. These boys received their class numerals: B. Whelden, G. Sidebotham, R. Bailey, J. Lawrence, H. Strombom, T. Malloy, F. Morrison, W. Goodbar, M. Crane, N. Adams, C. Bassett, M. Corsi, V. Di Angelo, and M. Poindexter. The team stood in second place at the finish of the Freshman-Junior High League.

A freshman debate was held in the auditorium in March. It was very successful, and the Boy learned how a real debate should be conducted.

The Boy, while not surprising the world in general with his marvelous feats, has at least conquered smaller worlds to his own satisfaction. But as he knows there are still others, he looks forward to the time when he shall come into contact with them and also shall be able to nickname the newcomer "Freshie."

THE Orange and Black met and defeated Cambridge Latin in the season's first Suburban League game. Several times Newton was in a scoring position, but lacked the necessary punch to put the ball over. Toward the middle of the second period, however, Joe Gilligan booted the pigskin between the uprights to win 3-0. On Columbus Day, Everett's much lauded team steam-rolled into camp, expecting to crush Newton. They returned to Everett, fortunate to secure a 13-0 win as the result of two Newton fumbles both of which led directly to touchdowns.

Just before the Somerville game, it became known that Capt. Angie DiMott of Everett was ineligible. Consequently all of Everett's games were forfeited. At Somerville, Newton squelched its opponent 14-0, thereby taking the League lead. Hamilton blocked two punts, one of which a "Moon-Shine" pass turned into a touchdown a few plays later; the other was a safety. Brown made the other score after Captain Cole had recovered a Somerville fumble. The following Saturday, an undefeated Lawrence team ground out a 7-0 win in one of the best defensive games ever witnessed in schoolboy football. Newton's two goal line stands and Gatchell's sterling work were the outstanding features of the game. The next week Newton gained a 15-13 decision over Rindge Tech, in a rough contest featured by an eighty-yard run for a touchdown by Burke of Rindge, from kickoff. To close a successful season, Brookline, Newton's bitterest of rivals, was beaten 3-0 in the last minute of play as Joe Gilligan drop-kicked a field goal for the first victory over the Wealthy Towners in three years. The game was closely contested from whistle to whistle. There were many high spots in the season, especially the work of Gatchell, Scheinfein and Shea who obtained berths on the All-Suburban eleven. The two former were picked for the mythical State All-Scholastic team. Coach John L. Sullivan, who is taking the late Coach Dickinson's place as head coach, can look forward to a successful season next year with Captain-elect Scheinfein and nine letter men returning.

Ice Hockey

FOR the seventh time in eleven years Newton High captured the Interscholastic Hockey League championship by defeating Cambridge Latin, Arlington, and Melrose in the Round Robin series at the Arena. Cambridge lost 2-0, and Arlington was on the short end of a 3-0 score, but Melrose put up a great fight. The sextet opened up thereafter and vanquished Cambridge Latin 3-0. The following week Melrose was downed 3-1, and Everett easily succumbed 3-0. A short period of poor weather was followed by a League win over Stoneham, 7-1. The Orange and Black assured itself of a place in the Arena Round Robin series when it won over an unusually strong Rindge Tech team by 3-0. Later the same week Belmont faded 6-3, before the League leaders' sharp shooting. The opening of the Round Robin series at the Arena saw Newton, Melrose, Cambridge Latin, and Arlington facing each other for the championship. Newton was favored to win while Melrose had a very aggressive sextet, and Cambridge and Arlington were weak. Newton and Melrose won as expected and came face to face on February 22. Spain in his last school-boy appearance proved himself to be superior to any other player on the ice, scoring Newton's three goals, one on a pass from Brown after a beautiful run by the latter.

The Orange and Black's entire season with eleven victories, no ties, and four defeats, is to be commended. The defeats were by three college freshman teams and one academy sextet. Frank Spain at center ice, and Joseph Gilligan at defense, gained well earned positions on the All-Suburban team. Harrington at goal was the talk of the League and served to fill Newton's one weak position. Bob Bennett on the other defense proved to be a stonewall. Captain "Jimmie" Brown played consistently throughout the season, being highly valuable both as a team player and a scorer, while Langdon Powers on the other wing, was of great help as a vital part of combination plays. The greatest praise is due to Doctor Martin.

Swimming

Manager, CHARLES KIRKPATRICK Captain, HAROLD LODGE Coach, CLYDE G. HESS

WHILE this year's swimming team was not as strong as some in the past, Coach Hess obtained gratifying results from the available material. The loss of Lloyd Osborne was a severe handicap and several others were missed by graduation.

Newton overwhelmed Commerce in the opening tank duel of the season, 19-10. The local mermen were superior to the intown team and scored almost at will. Rindge Tech was the next victim, losing to the Orange and Black by a 35-23 score. In the next meet, Newton was nosed out by English High 30½ - 28½. A victory in the last event proved to be the deciding factor in the meet. Huntington's strong outfit administered Newton a 41-18 defeat taking the majority of first and second places from the Garden City natators. Exeter scored a decisive victory over the Orange and Black with Lloyd Osborne leading the scoring attack against his former team mates. Getting back to the winning column, Newton proved to be too strong for Pawtucket and handed them a 38-24 defeat. Cambridge Latin won a thriller from the Orange and Black, leading at the finish by the close score of 32-30. Pawtucket, in a return meet, again lost to Newton, this time by a 42-20 score. Brookline's powerful swimming team was victorious over Newton in the first meet 39-23. The score does not indicate the superiority of the Wealthy Towners who were evidently saving up for the return meet which resulted in a 56-6 defeat for Newton. Brookline doubled up in several events and its potentiality was evident. The Orange and Black dropped the last dual meet of the season when the M. I. T. Freshmen gained a 39-23 verdict. In the Lieut. George R. Meehan State Meet, Newton annexed three points. The relay team consisting of Esson, Lodge, Perry and Davidson picked up third place for two points. Perry finished third in the 100-yard free style for the odd point.

Varsity swimming letters have been awarded to Davidson, Lodge, Esson and Perry. Minor letters were awarded to Scott, Hutchinson, McGrath, Wales, Thompson and Kirkpatrick, manager.

A SUCCESSFUL season was started by defeating a powerful alumni, 11-36. McCrudden turned in the sterling performance of the afternoon by chasing Tom Clausen B. A. A. star, to a new record of $2.25\frac{2}{5}$ in the 1,000 yard run. Medford, the State champions, next stormed into the "Drill-Shed." They returned to their home town on the short side of 39-38. The victor was not determined until the last event, the relay. Newton took five of the nine first places in R. Cole, McCrudden, Kinraide, Ebelhare, and the relay team. This quartet composed of R. Cole, F. Cole, Mullen, and Reed broke the gym record and was the only set to gain a decision over the Medford aggregation. The Boston College High team was next crushed $57\frac{1}{3}$ - $19\frac{2}{3}$, Newton making sweeps of three events. A week later, Brockton swaggered into the "Garden City," whereupon the "Gardeners" buried them, 58-19. Pearson set a new record in the 300-yard dash. In the first half of the Brookline meet, the score stood 37-35 in the latter's favor. It was Newton's chance to add another win to the score as the home relay team was far superior to that of the "Wealthy Towners," but R. Cole fell on the first bank, giving the lead and the meet to Brookline with a score of 42-35. The second half of the meet, held in Brookline, ended in a tie 36-36. The final dual meet of the year was with Huntington "Prep." Two records were broken and one tied. Murphy of Huntington set up a new record of $36\frac{1}{5}$ seconds in the 300, and the fast Newton four defeated the Black and Red's hitherto unvanquished relay team, breaking its own record of $1.30\frac{3}{5}$ seconds by $\frac{1}{2}$ second. The Prep Schoolers finished on top $35\frac{1}{2}$ - $32\frac{1}{2}$. To close the year, Newton was fourth in the State Meet with 16 points. The relay team landed second place; Ebelhare, second in the high-jump; Kinraide tie, for fourth in the broad jump; F. Cole, fourth in the dash; R. Cole, second in the hurdles; Gatchell, fourth in the shot put; McCrudden, third in the 1,000; and Pearson, fourth in the 300.

SECOND TEAM

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Basketball

Manager, JOHN HITCHCOCK Captain, WILLIAM PEARCE Coach, RAYMOND A. GREEN

FOR the first time in fourteen years, Newton High resumed basketball games with neighboring high schools. A varsity and second team, coached by Raymond A. Green and Frank Simmons respectively, were chosen and full schedules were played. Many of the opponents had exceptionally strong teams but Newton showed up very creditably. William Pearce was elected captain and shared the high scoring honors with Donald Parker. DeMille, B. Rockwood, and Becker were the other leading scorers on the varsity quintet.

The opening game was lost to Rindge Tech, 50-19. Needham provided little opposition in the next game, and the Orange and Black chalked up their first victory by a 25-16 score. Against Cambridge Latin, Newton did well in the first half but the Cantabs unleashed an offensive attack which gave them a 35-16 victory. Newton played a return game with Rindge only to be overwhelmed by a score of 41-22. The Orange and Black gained a 19-12 verdict over Belmont in a close, fast game, featuring excellent pass work on both teams. The following tilt with Beverly was one of excitement, the game see-sawing back and forth with Newton finally emerging on the long end, 26-24. Everett kept its slate clear by winning from the Garden City outfit, 43-15. Watertown won a close game from Newton 17-13, and later, Cambridge Latin won a return game to the tune of 21-4. The varsity closed its season with two victories, the first registered over Needham, 30-7 and the second over Beverly, 21-17. The last game resembled the first, inasmuch as Newton was victorious by a last minute spurt.

The letter men are as follows: Parker, Payne, B. Rockwood, Pearce, DeMille, and Becker. Norman Payne was elected to lead next season's quintet. Coach Green is to be highly commended for the fine work accomplished in the first year of outside competition.

Baseball

Captain, SPENCER DE MILLE Coaches, JOHN L. SULLIVAN, LUCIUS P. JONES

NEWTON'S varsity opened the 1928 season under Coach Sullivan and Assistant Coach Jones with eight letter men available. The pitching staff was built around Reilley and Wilson, both experienced moundsmen. Captain DeMille retained his position at first base, Allie Fletcher took care of the keystone sack, Frank Spain covered shot-stop, and Edgar Warren patrolled the hot corner. Phil Andres handled the pitchers behind the bat and has done a great job. The outfield was shifted several times with Gatchell, Reilley, Mullen, Powers, Bennett and Sutcliffe seeing action. Bob Swett played several good games at third base during Warren's absence.

The opening tilt was played on Wednesday, April 11, at Malden. The contest, which was won by Newton, 9-4, marked the resumption of athletics between the two schools. Lawrence was Newton's second victim, losing a 3-0 decision in five innings at Claflin Field. Newton won its first league game against Cambridge Latin at Russell Field. In one of the most thrilling games ever witnessed at Claflin Field, the Orange and Black nosed out Everett in a league game, 4-3 in 12 innings. Wilson and DiAngelo waged a pitcher's battle, both being very effective. With the score tied at the beginning of the twelfth frame, Everett managed to put two runs across to take the lead. Newton was successful in her half of the inning to win the tilt. With two out and the sacks loaded, DeMille came through with a double which brought two men home and tied the score. Allie Fletcher then polled out a long fly which both the Everett left and center fielder tried unsuccessfully to retrieve, and the winning run was scored. Newton and Waltham resumed relations after a short lapse and the Orange and Black celebrated the occasion by outclassing the Watch City nine, 12-2. Newton won its sixth straight game defeating St. Mark's at Southboro, 19-2. Reilley pitched air-tight ball against Brookline, and Newton gained its third league victory by a score of 6-0. As this article goes to press, practically half of Newton's schedule has been completed, and the record of Coach Sullivan's outfit is seven wins and no reverses. The team is one of the heaviest hitting outfits in scholastic circles and should continue at a rapid pace.

Boys' Tennis

Manager, JAMES BENSON Captain, DAVID SCOTT Coach, WENDELL F. SMITH

THE Newton Varsity tennis team to date has played in and won four matches. The Orange and Black defeated Milton Academy, 5-1; Somerville, the first league match, 9-0; Boston English High School, 9-0; and Malden, the second league match, 9-0. This start pertains to a good season with ten matches and the Longwood Interscholastic Tournament yet to be played.

This year for the first time a Suburban Tennis League was sponsored by Wendell F. Smith and formed among Newton, Brookline, Somerville, Malden, Everett, Quincy, and Cambridge Latin. This is a great step towards the further organization of tennis in the suburban schools. The team that represents Newton in these and other matches is composed of Arthur Noble, David Scott, Norman Payne, Norman Harris, Charles Glueck, and Gordon Naylor, with James Benson as manager. Arthur Noble appears to be the outstanding player on the team as he has outclassed all his opponents so far and has only lost eight games in all of his matches. The entire team has only lost one out of thirty-one matches.

For the first time in history, a high school is to be host in a tennis tournament entirely for high schools. That school is Newton who is sponsoring a school tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, on Saturday June 9. Between fifteen and twenty schools are expected to attend. Each school's entry will be limited to six men, and a fee is charged of $3.00 per team and $1.00 per man. The tournament has been organized by Mr. Smith.

The Orange and Black has also put a second team on the courts composed of Allen Rust, George Barton, William Switzler, Emmons Brown, Jacob Canter, and Dan Fagan. This team has only played one match. Belmont defeated Newton 3-2 in a hard played contest when only George Barton in singles, and Emmons Brown and Jacob Canter in doubles won for the losers.

Golf

THE Newton High School Golf Team has been composed of the best of Massachusetts school boy golfers, having held the state championship the last four years. Last year out of twenty-four matches only one match was lost to Exeter Academy. This year's showing has been equally successful since out of all the matches played to date, one has been lost and that again to Exeter. This excellent record is due, in a great measure, to Coach Donald Dewart.

The team is composed of Captain Steve Wasilewski, Manager Red Manning, Dick Clarey, Joe Fay, Harry Donnelly, Everett Nelson, Henry Bourneuf, Bill Donnelly, winner of the fall tournament, and Fred Warren, runnerup. The schedule follows:

April 26 Fessenden, Newton
 April 27 Boston Latin, Newton
 May 1 Reading, Newton
 May 5 Exeter, Exeter
 May 10 Thayer, Thayer
 May 11 Quincy, Newton

May 16 Thayer, Newton
 May 21 Manchester, Newton
 May 22 St. Mary's, Newton
 May 24 Natick, Newton
 May 26 St. John's, Newton
 May 31 New Prep, New Prep

June 1 Manchester, Manchester

Girls' Field Hockey

Manager, EMILY KENDERDINE Captain, GLADYS L. BROWN Coach, ALICE C. BATCHELLER

FOR the first time in years, the girls' hockey team passed through a season undefeated. In spite of the fact that many of last year's players were lost by graduation, a great team was developed which brought honors to Newton High. On the first day of the season, 170 girls reported for practice and, due to an additional supply of sticks and shinguards, all were equipped and had a chance to play. The first few weeks were spent in practicing the essentials of hockey.

Of the five games on this year's schedule, four were won and one tied. The first game, at Needham, ended in a tie score of 5-5. The next game was the hardest — Brookline at Brookline. It was thought that Brookline would win easily. However, Newton never played better and carried off the honors, 2-1. Unfortunately the second team did not do so well and the score was 3-2 in Brookline's favor. On November 17th came the game with Waltham at Waltham. This was another victory for both first and second Newton teams, the scores being 1-0. Last, but by no means least, came the Alumnae game on Saturday morning, November 26th. Although this team was composed of many of last year's strongest players, Newton won easily by a score of 7-1. Besides Newton's varsity contests, there was the usual round of class games. The seniors played four games with the juniors, of which they won two, lost one, and tied one. The sophomores and freshmen played two games, both of which were won by the sophomores. The seniors won the deciding match, thus giving them the class championship for 1927. This year two girls made the Boston All-Public School Team: Emily Dunleavy and Gladys Jerauld. These girls received the junior insignia of the Boston Field Hockey Association. The other girls who went to try out for the team were Margaret Warren, Mary Moriarty, and Emily Kenderdine. We ought to feel very proud of the two girls who made the team, for it is a great honor not only for the school but also for them. Much credit is due Miss Batcheller for her interest and excellent coaching.

Girls' Basketball

Manager, ELIZABETH CLARKE Captain, CHELLISE COOK Coach, CECILY HORNER

THE basketball season for 1927-28 opened the week following Thanksgiving. Captains were chosen for every ten girls registered, as in the previous season, and these captains selected their own teams. Definite days were then set for each class practice. On the appointed day each class practiced with its own teams until the first of February.

From then on until the middle of March, a series of class games, 66 in all, was conducted — freshman and sophomore teams versus each other and the juniors against the seniors. The sophomores were the final winners and 39 numerals were awarded, each girl of the victorious class who had played in at least three games receiving one.

These games not only gave everyone an equal chance, but also helped to keep up every girl's interest. These class games were not played entirely within the school. Two games were arranged with outside schools — Needham and Wellesley. The freshmen also played two matches with each of the Junior High Schools.

The varsity team began practice about the last of February and practice was held once or twice a week. Of the five games played by the varsity this year we won three and lost two.

The first game was played with Wellesley on their floor March second. Both the first and the second Newton teams were victorious, the score for the first being 29-15 and for the second, 17-15. In the second game of the season on March 9th the Orange and Black was not so fortunate. Watertown badly defeated them on Newton's floor by a score of 50-11. The second team also lost, 23-10. The Needham game also at home on March 16, was lost by Newton by the score of 24-15 for the first team. The second team, however, had better luck and the final score stood 39-12 in Newton's favor. Another Newton victory occurred on March 21 in the game with Waltham on our floor. Newton rallied after her last two defeats and came through with a score of 27-18 for the first team and 37-13 for the second. The last game of the season was, as usual, with the alumnae and the team of 1928 won its last victory 36-22.

Girls' Tennis

THE 1928 tennis season started shortly after Spring vacation. In addition to the three girls left from last year's squad, ten girls were chosen from the fall tournament who showed promise and who had done well in the tournament. Regular practice for this squad was held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon in the gymnasium until the out-door courts were made ready.

This year the team was exceptionally fortunate in being able to secure the services of Mrs. George Wightman, the teacher of many famous stars and a champion herself. Mrs. Wightman came every Thursday and did a great deal for the girls in every way.

After careful observation of the girls, the following rating was established: (1) Katherine Sprague; (2) Katherine Lock; (3) Esther Turner. For the doubles teams there were: (1) Margaret Kneeland and Margaret Decker, and (2) Beatrice Piser and Suzanne Davis.

As for the games with outside schools, four were arranged by the manager, Beatrice Piser. The schools against whom Newton played were Watertown, Winchester, La Salle, and Brookline.

With the excellent coaching of Mrs. Wightman, and the school equipment to help them, added to the skill of the girls themselves, the players were sure to have a successful season.

ORGANIZATION

The Associates

President, JERRY ANGINO

Boys' Vice-President, NORMAN PAYNE

Girls' Vice-President, ELIZABETH PRATT

Treasurer, NORMA MORGAN

Clerk, JAMES BROWN

THE Newton High School Associates, composed of the entire student body, acts through a Legislature to which representatives from the home rooms are elected. This has been organized with the purpose of directing school activities, such as granting charters to clubs, giving financial aid, supervising civics, music, athletics, dramatics, and the school publications.

During the past year the Legislature has met on the first Wednesday of each month in the lecture hall. Although the meetings were previously held after school, it was decided this year that they should occupy the home-room period. In this way the governing body of the school has been fully and regularly attended, as department days and extra-curricula duties have not interfered.

Early in the year a motion was passed that all knitted-in letters on Athletic sweaters should be paid for by the Associates. The Legislature agreed to pay for the pins presented to members of the National Honor Society. The Associates co-operated with the rest of the school in purchasing a picture as a gift to Director Bacon on his resignation. They also took charge of the engraving and shipping of this gift. Our school was highly complimented when the Montclair, New Jersey, High School sent to Newton for a copy of the Newton High School Associates' Constitution.

As a tribute to our beloved Mr. Dickinson, a stadium has been planned. The building of this stadium cannot yet begin, but the Associates stand ready to sponsor a drive for the purpose of raising money for it. It is hoped that each student will contribute one dollar.

The Organization of the Associates has been in existence as a body for only two years, and, while still very young, it is filling a place of real service in the school.

Newtonite

Editor, JOSEPH L. RUSSO

Faculty Manager, GEORGE L. ROHRBOUGH

Business Manager, ROBERT KRETSCHMAR

VOLUME six of the Newtonite closes after a very successful year. Under the leadership of Joseph Russo and Mr. Rohrbough, the faculty adviser, the paper continued in its ideals of service for the school, and made improvements in style and policy. Many minor changes in make-up were made. This year, as in other years, the Newtonite was recognized as one of the most carefully made up of the country's school newspapers.

The Newtonite covered fully every event of any importance in the school. Faculty, clubs, athletics, dramatics, and all the other branches of school life were handled by an unusually competent staff. The literary page had a great variety of content, as it was often given over to the various departments of the school, in an effort to unite the students in their understanding of the school life. Editorial policy was based on strictly impartial lines, and the page was generally improved.

In January, the Newtonite staff presented "Newtonia," with the assistance of various other members of the school. It was a very successful venture in the exploitation of student talent, consisting of sketches, songs, and dances. A tea followed, for staff members.

At the Prize-Speaking Contest, given in April, the following seniors were given Newtonite charms for outstanding service and ability: Edith Lond, Helen Russo, Barbara Johnson, Eleanor Collins, Venila Colson, Bessie Hutton, Preston Sweetser, William Raye, and Russell Maloney. Later in the year, juniors on the staff were presented with charms.

Vice-President, ELIZABETH PRATT

Secretary, ADDRA E. SAUNDERS
Treasurer, RICHARD P. TRUE

THE work of the Drama Club this year resolved itself into three different spheres, the direction of one-act plays each month to give members experience, the presentation of a major production, "Quality Street," and the equipment of the school stage.

The climax of the year was "Quality Street" by Sir James M. Barrie on March 23 and 24. The proceeds were used to furnish the stage. Barbara Davis was the young "old maid" of "Quality Street" who loved the martial doctor, Evan Collins. Catharine Stone played Susan, the anxious sister, who worried through the school days and through the subsequent masquerade at the ball.

At monthly meetings, "Le Sire de Maletroit's Door," by Mary Davidson; "The Grill," coached by Henrietta Kraber; and "The Broom" coached by Robert Reed, were presented. Miss Joy Higgins, director of dramatics at the Community Service Club of Boston, spoke on "The Value and Progress in Modern Histrionic Fields." An assembly of English classes was held at which Professor Gilmer of Tufts spoke on "The Spirit of the Drama."

The club presented the stage with tormentors, an entire encyclopaedia, spot light, floor cloth, and small properties.

Freshman-Sophomore Drama Club

President, JOHN ARGERSINGER
Vice-President, ELIZABETH KOLB

Secretary, BETTY TUCKER
Treasurer, EDWARD SMITH

FOR several years in our school the only chance to bring out the dramatic talent of the pupils has been through the Drama Club, which excludes both freshmen and sophomores. This year, however, a new plan was suggested in the nature of forming another Drama Club, for the purposes of bringing out the talent of those in the two lower classes and to prepare them for entrance into the Drama Club when the time comes. In accordance with this plan, a charter was received from the legislature, the date for tryouts was set, and in due time the names of the pupils who had been selected were announced. The number of charter members is about twenty-five and the officers are the following: President, John Argersinger; Vice-President, Elizabeth Kolb; Secretary, Betty Tucker; and Treasurer, Edward Smith.

The constitution was drawn up and the members decided that with the help of Mrs. Benis, the faculty adviser, they would be able to produce two one-act plays this year. Next year, with ten months in which to prepare them, it is expected that two- and three-act plays may be produced. Settings, lighting, etc., are to be studied during the year.

The club feels that something has already been accomplished in having five of its members in the annual production of the Drama Club, and it hopes that the school will profit by its organization.

Senior Play

"THE ROMANTIC AGE"

By A. A. MILNE

EARLY in February the seniors presented their play. Milne's delightful comedy, "The Romantic Age." This choice was rather a departure from custom, because of the comparatively small cast and the dependence of the play on good acting; but it proved to be a success.

Virginia Willard played the role of Melisande, the romantic, who found a fairy prince in blue and gold in her father's drawing-room. Lincoln Edmunds took the other leading part, that of the "fairy prince," who turned out to be a very ordinary young man. Nathan Wentworth, as Bobby, and Miriam Maloney, as Jane, carried off their share of the honors, and Betty Granger and William Kirkpatrick played Melisande's parents, very successfully. Edmund McLaughlin appeared as the philosophic peddler who voices the theme of the play, Larry Jenks as a mentally deficient rustic, and Beatrice Piser as the maid, Alice.

This play might well be considered a personal triumph for Miss Haworth, the coach, and also for each member of the cast, who carried it through with a type of acting that is usually considered beyond the ability of high school students.

Doctor Land and Francis Hickey, working with committees chosen from the senior class, handled the business arrangements.

The Library Club

President, GRACE WYETH

Vice-President, EMILY KENDERDINE

Secretary, BETTY BINGHAM

Treasurer, BETTY LOTZ

THE LIBRARY CLUB, composed of twenty-three junior and senior girls, under Miss Bigelow's supervision, has completed a most successful year. Girls in the junior and senior classes whose marks warrant membership are elected by the club, and are initiated at the final meeting each year.

The January meeting was of a somewhat different nature. Instead of having a regular meeting the girls all went to the motion picture, "Grass," which was being shown in the assembly hall. The April meeting was held in Miss Bigelow's home in the form of a tea. Mr. Samuel Thurber, former member of the Newton High School faculty, spoke to the club.

The meetings have been held in the Library on the second Thursday of every month. Although the meetings are of a social nature, the girls do a great deal of work at other times. Many of the girls have been especially faithful this year in carrying out work assigned to them. Several have reported very regularly in the morning and after school to give out and take in borrowed books. The club members gained a knowledge of the Drury Decimal System of Classification and of the arrangement of books in the Library, and all feel it to be a very instructive and worthwhile activity.

The Orange Book

THE Orange Book is compiled by the Junior class under the guidance of the Newton High School Associates. It was instituted a few years ago in order to acquaint the freshmen with the rules, requirements, and customs of the school and it promotes an added interest in scholastic activities. It contains a brief but complete version of the extra curricula activities. It serves as an authority on school life, and in this respect it is used as a textbook by the freshman Community Civic classes. In addition, it presents many facts and statistics that are of assistance to the entire student body.

Next year's work has already begun under the editorship of John M. Hitchcock with the following staff to assist him. Organizations and Activities: Richard G. Rice, Charles E. Smith, Jack D. Richmond, Gwendolyn Ormond, Jane Hermann, and Eleanor Colarullo. Sports: Arthur Noble, Norman Payne, Betty Muther, and William Annese. Preston Sweetzer is the art editor, and Miss Caroline M. Doonan is again the faculty adviser.

Such a group of competent workers should bring forth another worthy publication which will in every respect measure up to the standards set by previous staffs.

French Club

President, DAVID SCOTT

Vice-President, DAVID WALTER

Secretary, VIRGINIA WILLARD

Treasurer, KENNETH PERRY

THIS year has been very eventful for "Le Cercle Francais." The members feel that the many enjoyable entertainments afforded them have done much to stimulate their interest in French and to improve their usage of it. The first meeting was spent in getting acquainted, while at the second Miss Adele Waldmeyer showed slides of her trip in France and Italy last summer. The pictures were accompanied by interesting and amusing comments.

Instead of a meeting in December the club joined the others of the school in giving a Christmas party. Several of the members offered entertainment by singing French carols. In January the club was fortunate enough to secure Monsieur Pillionel of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as its speaker. He told of a day in a French school and read some original poems. Also during that month the club showed the moving picture of "Cyrano de Bergerac" for the entire school some of the receipts from which were given Charles W. Peterson for the moving-picture fund. In addition the club donated a small French flag and two dictionaries to the library for the French section.

English Club 1927-1928

President, BRANDON MARSH
Vice-President, BETTY BINGHAM

Secretary, MARGARET WARREN
Treasurer, EVAN COLLINS

WITH a large membership the English Club started early in the fall on a very successful year. An important project was taken up even before the first meeting, namely; the selling of the "Magazine World." This is a monthly publication for students, which publishes the best poetry and prose. A room-to-room campaign was held which resulted in great success.

During the year the club was fortunate in securing two very fine speakers. Mr. Donald Snyder, the Editor of the "Magazine World," and a former teacher in this school, spoke at the first regular meeting on "Creative Writing." At a later meeting the ever-popular Mr. Samuel Thurber talked entertainingly on "The Values of Reading."

The annual All Club Christmas party was held in the auditorium December 19th. The English Club's share in the entertainment was an amusing skit, "The Night After Christmas."

In February a novel and interesting "Home Talent" program was put on under the direction of Betty Bingham. The program was varied, consisting of original short stories and poems, piano selections, and a talk on book-making. All the participants were members of the Club.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Charles W. Peterson, two moving pictures were shown at the March meeting. Both were very amusing and made a great success of the meeting.

The annual Prize-Speaking Contest under the auspices of the English Club was held on the evening of April 19th in the auditorium. Three cups for first, second, and third places were awarded respectively to Richard Cummings, Russell Maloney, and Edmund McLaughlin. While the judges, who were Miss Margaret McGill, chairman, Dr. Guy M. Winslow, and Mr. Norman Bingham, were making their decisions, a short play entitled "Sham" was presented. The cast included William Raye as the thief, Walter Warren as Charles, Barbara Johnson as Clara, his wife, and Richard Stebbins as the reporter. After this farce, Newtonite charms were presented by Mr. Richards to members of the Newtonite staff who had done exceptional work on the paper.

Alpha Beta

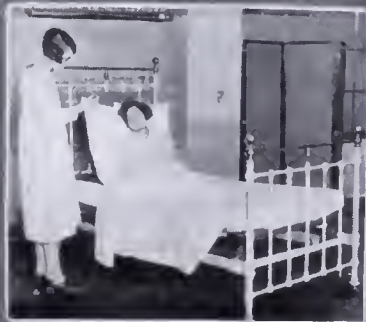

President, SPENCER ROCKWOOD
Vice-President, LOIS WOODWORTH

Secretary, HELEN BROOKS
Treasurer, LISA KOLB

ALPHA BETA is a freshman-sophomore English Club which was started in the fall of 1922 by Mr. Samuel Thurber. The aim of the club is to stimulate among the lower classmen a deeper interest in reading, and in oral and written expression, also, to prepare the pupils to be more helpful members of the junior-senior English Club.

At the first 1927 meeting, in November, Spencer Rockwood, '30, was elected president of the club, and Helen Brooks, '30, secretary. The president appointed Edward Smith, '30, chairman of the membership committee. At a later meeting, after the freshmen had been admitted, Lisa Kolb, '31, was elected treasurer, and Lois Woodworth, '31, vice-president. In December, Alpha Beta joined with the other clubs of the school in the Christmas party. It led in the singing and was directed by Spenceer Rockwood, the president. The club contributed ushers to assist during National Education Association Week. These were Catherine Thompson, '30; Mary Carrick, '30; Philip Giddings, '30; Warren Colby, '31; Spencer Rockwood, '30; and Betty Follett, '30. At the February meeting, Virginia Fales, '30, and Edith Duthie, '30, had charge of the entertainment of which charades and other games were features. For the March meeting every member brought a contribution of some sort towards the entertainment. Book reports, original poems, and selected readings were among the presentations. Plans are now underway for the annual freshman-sophomore declamation contest which will be given in May.

THE Newton High School Commercial Club was organized in January, 1925, to promote better school citizenship, scholarship, business efficiency, and social life in the Commercial Department. It is distinctly a business organization, and in this respect it is the only club of its type in the school.

The club meets on its department day, the third Thursday of each month in the auditorium during Block A. Prominent speakers have addressed the meetings which have been most enjoyable. At the first meeting Mayor Childs spoke on "Citizenship." Herbert McGill, editor-in-chief of Babson's publications, was the second speaker with "Business Conditions" as his subject. At the third meeting Herbert O. Miller, employment manager of Jordan Marsh Company, spoke on "Employment." Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, State Commissioner of Agriculture, addressed the many members on "Business Ethics," retelling his own experience at the League of Nations conference. At the last regular meeting, Franklin W. Ganse of the John Hancock Company took as his subject, "Life Insurance." A question period of ten minutes was allowed at the conclusion of each talk, in order that the members might have the advantage of additional information.

The only social function which the Club has sponsored during the year was a dancing class held under the direction of Miss Marchant, an alumna of the school. These classes were concluded with a dancing party, to which the school was invited. The motive of the class was to establish a scholarship of $100 from the proceeds. The interest was evidenced when at the last meeting, a class of junior girls contributed $25.00 toward the scholarship fund. This scholarship will be awarded to the highest ranking Commercial Senior, chosen by members of the faculty.

Home Economics Club

President, FRANCIS COMER

Vice-President, CHELISE COOK

Treasurer, ELSA BRANDT

Secretary, BARBARA HILLS

AT the first meeting of the Home Economics Club, after the election of officers, the members learned the purpose and ideals of the club: to arouse an interest in Home Economics and to establish high ideals of community service among its members.

At the second meeting, Miss Kenrick, head of the Home Economics Department, addressed the club on "What Home Economics Means." Miss Kenrick said, "The aim of the Economics courses is to render services to others in the school, to our communities, and in our homes."

The club gave a fashion show, during the winter, demonstrating the styles of a century. Twenty members who took part as models for the dresses were introduced by the speaker and their costumes explained. Some of the dresses shown were more than fifty years old.

In March the club made a trip to the Modern Priscilla Proving Plant, where they tested all the home furnishings, cooking appliances, and recipes.

The club owes much to Miss Kenrick, faculty adviser of the club.

IN THE SHOPS

Alpha Gamma Tau

President, ALLAN HINKLE

Vice-President, PRISCILLA BACON

Secretary, ROSANNA MCCLEAVE

Treasurer, THOMAS ADAMS

THE purpose of Alpha Gamma Tau, the Mathematics Club, is mainly to strengthen and increase the interest in mathematics. Those eligible for membership are post-graduates, seniors, and juniors who are eligible for club membership and those sophomores who have maintained an average of A through the first two marking periods.

This year the objective has been to show how mathematics pertains to our everyday life and how we use it practically. The meetings have been varied. At one meeting Charles Kirkpatrick gave some practical problems which required much thinking. Another meeting was spent in discussing and trying out for the annual play, "Falling in Love With Plain Geometry," which was to have been coached by Miss Beatrice Bates, but which had to be postponed until next fall.

Social Studies Club

President, RICHARD P. TRUE

Vice-President, ROMAINE B. COLE

Secretary, CHELISE R. COOK

Treasurer, ROBERT L. PIEPER

THE aim of this club is to stimulate special interest in History and other related Social Studies. This year, the club has been very successful.

At the second meeting a debate was held on the topic, "Resolved: That capital punishment should be abolished," which was won by the negative. To such an extent was interest aroused in this subject that several other groups in the school debated the same topic. Miss Caroline D. Ziegler, '25, was a guest of the Social Studies Club at the February meeting. She gave an interesting account of her travels in Turkey and the Balkan States. The club sponsored a freshman debate in March on the topic, "Resolved: That the Philippine Islands Should Be Given Immediate Independence," offered at a freshman assembly. The teams were coached entirely by members of the Social Studies Club.

Spanish Club

President, NORMAN PAYNE

Vice-President, BENJAMIN BOWEN

Secretary, THERESA VOLPE

Treasurer, NATHAN WENTWORTH

THE Spanish Club is open to all students who have A in Spanish and have a majority of B's in their other subjects. Because of these high requirements, the club is comparatively small. All meetings are conducted entirely in Spanish.

At the first meeting, a social committee, with Dino Alterio as chairman, was elected. This committee has provided for the club very unusual meetings in the way of plays, spelling contests, and fun. During the National Education Week, six members were elected to help usher the visitors around our school.

On March 15, a play "En Casa de Dona Bag" was presented with the following members as the cast: Ethel Murphy as Dona Paz, Theresa Volpe, Carmela; Benjamin Bowen, Elcura; Lawrence Jenks, as the "Creado." The club entertained all students taking Spanish at the performance.

For the fourth meeting, a musical program was arranged. Paul Shannon again showed his genius by the latest pieces on the piano in a variety of ways. Luigi Caruso played on the violin several Spanish numbers: "El Toreador," "El baile de Carmen," and "La Espanol."

To conclude the program, Mr. Argento illustrated how one should buy articles in Spain which proved to be extremely interesting.
